A Riverside Man Murders His Wife and Suicides.

ANOTHER INFLUX OF TRAMPS

Bakersfield's Bonds for Municipal Improvements Carry by a Large Majority.

RIVERSIDE, October 16.—A terrible double tragedy occurred here at noon today. W. E. Wrisley, who has been separated from his wife for some time past and who was under indictment for arson, went to the house occupied by Mrs. Wrisley, and after stabbing her to death, went to his room in the Park hotel and blew the top of his head off with a revolver.

Bakersfield Bonds.

BAKERSFIELD, October 16.—The supervisors had a special session today for the purpose of canvassing the vote of the election held on the 10th inst. for or against the issuance of $250,000 general improvement bonds. The official count shows 1778 for and 308 against. The money is to be expended on public buildings in Bakersfield and highways leading to the county seat.

More Tramps Coming.

ASHLAND, Ore., October 16.—Another batch of forty or fifty tramps arrived in Ashland on a freight train from the north this evening. This gang attempted to take possession of the day coach on the overland at Grant's Pass this morning, but were beaten off by the trainmen with clubs and revolvers after numerous window-lights in the car had been broken.

Maud is to Get All.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 16.—The Examiner says Charles Fair, son of ex-Senator James G. Fair, has made his will, leaving all his property to Maud Nelson, whom he recently married. Young Fair will receive $1,000,000 when he is thirty-five years old.

Brutal Whitecaps Sentenced.

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., October 16.—The celebrated Whitecap trial at Salem closed today. Elija Dalton, who stood by to see his wife whipped, got five years in prison; James Dalton, his brother who held Mrs. Dalton, and John Rolsapple, who whipped her, each got five years. Boling, who was present but did not interfere, gets three years, and Barnett, who was present but too drunk to take part, two years.

A Railroad Accident.

ST. LOUIS, October 16.—A train on the Wabash road, running fifty miles an hour, jumped the track today. Twenty-seven persons were painfully injured, fifty others slightly, but no one killed. The train caught fire, but the injured were rescued before the flames reached them.

The Rebel Cause Declining.

RIO DE JANEIRO, October 16.—The prestige of the rebels is apparently declining. The forts at Santa Cruz have been firing upon the rebel warships, and severely damaged the steamers Urani and Palhs. Many rebels were killed and wounded.

RIVERDALE RIPPLES.

A Model Creamery Described—Otis Maisberry's Bad Shot.

From The Republican's Regular Correspondent.

RIVERDALE, October 16.—We are sorry to note that N. Rountree is lying seriously ill in Fresno.

Ed Johnson has returned from a trip to the mountains.

The schools in this vicinity will close on the 20th instant for a week's vacation, so that the teachers can attend "Institute" the following week.

Several of us tendered Miss Beauchamp a pleasant surprise on the occasion of her birthday, and we enjoyed ourselves, as the small boy says, immensely.

Our social club met at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Cooper, and after a pleasing program, under the supervision of Mrs. J. B. Lewis, we spent the remainder of the evening in singing, playing games, etc. Hereafter the club will meet once every two weeks.

A 100-foot bridge is in the course of construction on the Riverdale grade, and it is really a thing of beauty.

Of late the mornings and evenings have been very cold, and we expect a winter that will cause many of us to work very lively if we do not wish to freeze to death.

Will horses have been at work on the Harlan place for the past week.

Joseph Johnson is visiting relatives in Riverdale.

Mr. Mitchell of Oleander is a welcome addition at our social club and calls forth sweet strains from his good old banjo.

Mr. and Mrs. Hardin are domiciled at the road camp. While out shooting this week Otis Maisberry accidentally shot one of their work horses in the leg.

Miss Smoot is the guest of her sister, Mrs. N. Rountree.

A week ago a few friends spent a very pleasant evening tripping the light fantastic toe at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Bagsby.

Miss Harlan and Miss Beauchamp visited Fresno last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer Barritt are to be congratulated upon a new arrival.

One of the most interesting places to visit in our neighborhood is the creamery on the Maisberry place. A large can suitable for holding eighty gallons of milk is filled, and this runs off through a pipe into the separator, a vessel peculiar in its construction. It holds about two gallons to start with, and soon as the machinery is put in operation the cream and milk begins to separate. The latter runs out through several small tubes to the bottom of the separator into the main tube and finally into the trough.

The cream being forced to the small pans in the bottom, passes out through a very small tube through the pipe leading from the separator and into a can. It requires some 5000 revolutions a minute to force the cream out at a proper thickness. Between 200 and 250 rolls of butter are made in this creamery weekly, and the separator is worked twice a day. The machinery consists of an immense wheel on the outside and an oil engine is also used. Two wheels were also running inside, one being in direct connection with the separator.

It is not to be wondered at that our genial neighbor finds a ready market for his butter, for it must necessarily be of the best, as he has every convenience for making it so.

Fred Eaton made a brief visit home a week or so ago.

The weather has been delightful—so has not the dust.

Mr. Poyser and Mr. Johns of San Francisco are visiting in our neighborhood. OBSERVER.

Ladies' Grand Fair for the Catholic Church.

The ladies of the congregation of St. John's Catholic church, corner of M and Fresno Streets, have organized to hold a grand fair on the 22, 23, 24 and 25th days of November next, at Kutner hall.

The purpose of this fair is to gather means to repaint, refurnish and repair the church, which is, at present, in an unbecoming state of delapidation. Year after year the Catholic congregation and their friends have been called upon to contribute and help other purposes, but there never has been anything done for this poor church since the time it was built, twelve years ago.

The ladies are determined to make this fair a grand success, and will spare no trouble or means to make it a most pleasant event for the society of Fresno.

I understand that they will immediately start around soliciting donations for their booths, and I hope they will be received with the greatest favor and generosity. A. GARRIGA, Rector.

LADIES IN CHARGE OF THE FAIR.

President, Mrs. J. J. Vevoda; Vice President, Mrs. J. W. Bryant; Treasurer, Rev. A. Garriga; Secretary, Miss Ida Mayes. Flower stand, Miss Jennie Mornin; fancy table No. 1, Miss Stella O'Brien; fancy table No. 2, Mrs. J. Homan; fancy table No. 3, Mrs. M. Featherstone; ice cream, Mrs. J. W. Eccentricities of a Great Man's Umbrella.

Tom Reed visited Wall street yesterday, and before he got out he was the innocent cause of a great deal of profanity. He wore a gray suit, a straw hat and a flaring red cravat. In his hand he carried a big umbrella. In front of the Wilkes building he ran across Mr. Silas Einstein, who came in a bad second to Mr. Gilroy in the last mayoralty contest, and the two men stopped on the narrow sidewalk to converse. Mr. Reed became very much interested in his discourse on the silver repeal and waved his big umbrella in all directions. The brokers dodged and used bad words.

JURY BRIBERY

Is Alleged in the Curtis Case.

FOUR JURORS WERE BOUGHT

The Bribers Threatened Curtis' Life—His Attorney Claims It Is Blackmail.

Yesterday's Examiner contains a sensational story of bribery in the case of M. B. Curtis, recently acquitted of the murder of Policeman Alexander Grant, at San Francisco. As Curtis is well known in this county, where he has large property interests, the story possesses great interest for Fresnoans.

According to the Examiner, Frank McManus, king of the Potrero; State Senator William J. Dunn and Joe Dieves are accused of trying to get money from Curtis on the ground that they paid four jurors to vote for his acquittal. The sum they are alleged to have been promised is $2000 each, and the amount paid $2800. Says the Examiner:

"The story is to the effect that the acquittal of Curtis was secured through bribery. Indeed, that a dual corps of bribers was engaged on the jury, but that only one set was paid for its labors. When the second set of bribers demanded their pay trouble ensued. Curtis and his thrifty wife concluded they had been bled quite enough, and declined to make any further payments. When threats of violence were made they fled to their Fresno ranch, in the hope of escaping from their prosecutors. They were pursued, however, and told that unless they paid the cost of service within the period of one year Samuel of Posen would be where Grant is now.

"He feared the men who claimed that through a discreet expenditure of coin they had saved his neck and he appealed to the sheriff for protection. That Sheriff Scott felt Curtis was entitled to protection is shown by the fact that he sent to Posen a man who had made a record, one Boyd, who is now under indictment for the murder of John J. Maloney, in Fresno.

"These men strenuously deny that they ever bribed any jury, or that they made any demand on Curtis for such services. They admit that they were in Fresno on the day that Curtis asked for protection, but declare that they were not near Curtis' ranch, and that they did not see him on that day or molest him then or at any other time. They did dine with Senator Goucher, who declares he was asked to defend them in the event that they should get into trouble. The testimony supplied by Goucher is the most important in the chain.

"McManus and Dunn, it is alleged, told Goucher that four jurors had been bribed in the Curtis case, and that $8000 had been paid. After the trial, the 'King' said, the money was not forthcoming and a formal demand was met with the response that the same men had been paid $2000 apiece already by the attorneys, who claimed to hold their receipts. McManus and Dunn insisted that these receipts be shown them and a meeting at the attorney's office was agreed upon. When the receipts were produced McManus said he pounced on them and took them away, and that he then held them.

"McManus was very angry because Curtis mistrusted both himself and the Curtis lawyers and "played double." He declared that he was out $8000 and would get his money or make it mighty unpleasant for Curtis. The 'King' also intimated that the court even had been reached, instancing the fact that the jury were not locked up, but were allowed to go to their homes at the close of each session.

"This report of statements McManus is said to have made is compiled from the repetition by those to whom Senator Goucher told the story.

"When this story was repeated to Curtis at his ranch by an Examiner reporter, he said that he had expended about $80,000 in fighting the case, and was free in admitting that he had been bled right and left, but declined to give the facts in detail or to mention names. Mrs. Curtis spoke with equal feeling relative to the large sums of money which they were forced to expend for the defense, but was even more guarded in giving specific items than her husband. Curtis further said that he engaged the services of a deputy sheriff, simply because of the unsettled condition of labor in Fresno county. He pooh-poohed the idea that he was afraid of McManus."

J. N. E. Wilson, one of the attorneys for Curtis, tells the following story in connection with the affair.

"While the trial of Curtis was in full swing McManus and Dunn paid a visit to him one night in the county jail. They informed Curtis that for $24,000 they could have him acquitted of the murder of Grant. He protested that he did not possess that much coin, but thanked them heartily for their show of friendship. Then they offered for $8000 to influence four votes in his favor, which would at least give him a disagreement. Curtis said that he did not even have that sum, and that if he had he would not pay any money for the purpose of bribing the jury.

"'Well,' McManus said, 'if you are afraid to do it we will go and see Wilson.'"

McManus and Dunn did call on Attorney Wilson the next day, and, according to the attorney, made him the same proposition. Wilson told them there was neither $8000 nor 8 cents in the Curtis case and ordered them out of the office.

The two men then went to the Occidental hotel and forced their way into Mrs. Curtis' room. They made a demand upon her for the $8000, and by using all sorts of threats induced her to consent to deed them ten lots in Peralta block, Berkeley.

Just here, according to Wilson, the precious pair made a serious blunder by placing into the lady's hands a bit of evidence which will be used against them at a criminal trial. She asked them in whose name the deeds should be made out, and McManus wrote on a slip of paper his own name and that of Dunn. An instant later he said that it would not be well to use their names, so he drew a line through them on the paper and wrote underneath the names of two women. The men then departed, after agreeing to meet Mrs. Curtis at her room on Monday at 1 o'clock.

Subsequently McManus, Dunn and Mrs. Curtis met at Wilson's office. The two first named repeated their demand and on being asked who had authorized them to bribe jurors answered they had received their authorization from Curtis at a second interview.

McManus handed a receipt for $2800 from the jurors who were bribed to Wilson in proof of his assertion, and Wilson passed it to Mrs. Curtis. As Wilson could not get the names of but two of the jurors from McManus he decided to end the interview.

Thereupon McManus jumped across the room, snatched the receipt from Mrs. Curtis's hand and made for the door. Turning at the threshold he shouted:

"This is all a bluff, Johnny Wilson. I'm onto you; you can't bluff me. We'll have that money yet." After this he and Dunn departed.

Wilson also tells of the trip of McManus, Dunn, Dieves and Dick Tennant to Fresno. Dieves went to the ranch to see Curtis, who happened to be in town. Mrs. Curtis so informed Dieves, who disputed her point blank.

Dieves stated two gentlemen in Fresno wanted to sue her husband, and on Mrs. Curtis asking who they were Dieves answered McManus and Dunn.

"They are a couple of blackmailers." shrieked Mrs. Curtis, and they have threatened to kill my husband. I want you to tell them that a deputy sheriff is guarding him, and if they lay a hand on him they will be riddled with shot.'"

Mrs. Curtis called one of her hired men to her assistance and ordered Dieves off the ranch. Dieves left promptly.

The contradictory statements of Curtis in regard to the reason he asked Sheriff Scott's protection constitute a peculiar feature of the affair. Once he said he feared trouble on account of the unsettled condition of labor here, and to others he hinted that McManus and his pals were down here to do him up, at the instigation of Kreling, proprietor of the Tivoli at San Francisco, who bore him a grudge because Mrs. Curtis had bested Kreling in some civil litigation.

Senator Goucher was seen last night with regard to the statements attributed to him in the Examiner's account, and he disclaimed all knowledge of the matter.

He says there is no foundation for those statements and that he knows nothing of the matter and has heard nothing beyond rumors originating in San Francisco.

Mr. Dunn is a state senator and he treated him courteously, and as McManus and Dieves were with him they received like treatment.

He denies having dined with Mr. Walser and never had the conversation alleged.

Mr. Walser was also seen and he states that they never were at a dinner together, nor did Senator Goucher ever tell him that Dunn and McManus were down here for the purpose alleged. They talked over the flying rumor once, but none of the statements suggested were made.

A Just but Lenient Judge.

An unusual incident occurred in the city court at Savannah a few days ago. Judge McDonnell was tardy in putting in an appearance, for which he fined himself $10 and then promptly remitted the fine. His honor went to see his physician to have his arm, which he recently injured, dressed, and the doctor kept him a little longer than he had counted on. When he entered the courtroom, the hands on the clock above the judge's desk pointed to just 10 minutes past 10.

Judge McDonnell took note of the fact and said: "In accordance with the rules of this court every officer who comes in late is subject to a fine. The clerk will, therefore, enter a fine of $10 against the court for tardiness, to be paid into the registry of the court. Owing to the fact, however, that this is the first time this thing has happened, and also that the court had to be detained in order to have its arm dressed, the clerk will remit the fine."—Baltimore Sun.

English Taught in French Schools.

The French minister of public instruction has issued a circular which will have the effect of greatly stimulating the study of the English language in France. In all the higher schools and training colleges the compulsory studies hitherto have included two modern languages, one of which must be German. This order is now annulled.

Two modern languages will be the rule as before, and one will remain at the option of the pupil, but as to the other he can choose between German and English. Moreover, the time given to the study of German is reduced by two hours, while that devoted to English is increased by the same length of time, and pupils will begin their English lessons one year earlier than hitherto.—London News.

A Phosphorescent Tree.

A large willow tree on the bank of Tan run in Frankford fell over recently and developed into a natural curiosity. The inside of the tree, which has been dead for several years, was found to be a mass of phosphorescent light known as fox fire. As darkness came on and the curious phenomenon was discovered, hundreds of people gathered, and as many as could get around the old trunk went to work with hatchets and knives to secure specimens. Soon the ground around was strewn with small chips, which glittered like so many little stars. —Philadelphia Record.

A Live Toad In a Hailstone.

A hailstorm visited Pawtucket about 10 o'clock Saturday evening, such as has not visited this vicinity for years, if within the memory of man. One woman picked up a large hailstone and allowed it to melt in her hand. She thought something was inside the little piece of frozen rain, but was surprised to find when all had melted a little live toad or frog in her hand. There is a quite general belief that a great many pebbles came down with the hail.—Providence Journal.

THE Examiner explains the overwhelming Democratic slump in Indianapolis with the statement that a bad man got on the ticket and hoodooed the whole business. It was a case of Jonah, of course, but Jo wasn't on the ticket. He was engaged indicating legislation at Washington, D. C.

THE English bondholders are again holding the threat over Congress of withdrawing loans from this country if legislation is not passed for their benefit. If this country were not bound and gagged, and delivered into the hands of its creditors at home and abroad, it would not tolerate such impudent interference with its affairs for a moment.

IT IS so seldom that a railroad goes into insolvency that the cause of such a proceeding is anxiously inquired for. The cause of the Union Pacific's failure is evidently not due to the impracticability of the line itself, but there is abundant ground for the belief that it is due to the extreme efforts put forth by the road to prevent competition from entering its field. It built thousands of miles of road in addition to the original line which was aimed almost exclusively at monopolizing adjacent territory. Many of these roads were run at a heavy loss and the property finally became unproductive. This seems to prove that it is a better thing for a railroad to permit a little outside competion rather than engage in extensive compelion with itself.

CHICAGO enterprise stands as an object lesson to the whole world. That city has accomplished what was almost universally believed to be impossible. She has not only shown that she can create the most magnificent and diversified international exposition the world has ever seen, but she has demonstrated her ability to pay off every cent of the fair's bonded debt before the final closing of the gates. The attendance on "Chicago day" excelled the highest attendance at any one day at the Paris exposition by 300,000, and the cash receipts were $425,000. It was undoubtedly with a feeling of honest pride that Treasurer A. F. Seeberger and Chairman Ferdinand W. Peck of the finance committee turned over to the trustees for the bondholders the check for $1,565,310, which extinguished the last vestige of the floating debt of the exposition. By her pluck, energy and perseverance in dealing with a vast and complicated problem, Chicago has earned the thanks of every public spirited American.

THE fifth report of the interstate commerce commission, which has just been issued, affords a bird's-eye view of the American railway industry, which is as interesting as it is instructive. The railroads of the United States cover 171,563 miles, owned by 1822 corporations and employing 821,415 persons. Probably not less than three millions and a half of people, or about one-twentieth of our whole population is supported by the wages paid by American r ilways. No less than 500,-958,211 passengers were transported last year and 705,555,471 tons of freight were hauled. The total earnings of our railways for the year ending June 30th, reached the enormous sum of $1,171,-407,343. The urgent necessity for the law providing for the use of automatic car couplers on all interstate railroads, which was passed by the fifty-second congress in response to President Harrison's earnest recommendations, is shown by the fact that 378 railway employes were killed during the year and 10,319 injured while engaged in the perilous work of coupling cars. The car coupler law may be expected to reduce these casualties to a minimum when the time allowed to the railway companies to provide their trains with safety appliances shall have elapsed. The needless slaughtering and maiming of faithful employes is a dark blot upon our railway system, and every humane American will be glad that it will soon be done away with.

THE Visalia Times protests against the custom adhered to by many people, under a mistaken notion of economy, of sending away from home for supplies in the line of clothing, dry goods, house-furnishing goods, etc. The custom is a most pernicious one, and it is strange that any considerable number of people are so short-sighted as to follow it. It is true, perhaps, that the custom originated at a time when the assortment of goods in towns like Fresno was not so complete as it is today and when the margin of profit to the merchant was greater, but there is no excuse for its existence at the present time. The stores of this city now carry as varied and attractive stocks in their various lines as can be found in San Francisco and they are sold at no higher prices, any advantage which the San Francisco merchant may enjoy in lower rates of transportation being fully offset in cheaper rents and other expenses which are lighter here. But even if goods were sold a shade higher here, which is not the case, it would be the poorest kind of economy on the part of any permanent resident of the community to send away for goods on which a slight saving could be made. To every citizen, whether he be a farmer, artizan or laborer, the growth and development of the city and the home market is of vital importance. Every new industry established and every person added to the population expands the home market just that much, and to the home market the farmer must look for a large share of his profits. To the growth and advancement of the city the mechanic and laborer must also look for profitable employment, and hence all classes have a personal interest in the development of local business and enterprise. It must be apparent to the most careless thinker that this cannot be done by sending money away from home needlessly and to the detriment of local business and industry. When the local buyer desires an accommodation of any sort he goes to his home merchant to get it. What then can be said of the gratitude, to say nothing of common sense and local pride, of the person who, for a supposed saving of a few cents, sends his cash to merchants who do not consume a dollar's worth of his produce or furnish him an hour's employment? It is time this sort of foolishness were stopped in this community. There is no earthly excuse for it.

"The Span of Life."

An intensely thrilling and remarkably exciting exhibition of nerve and strength will be seen in the coming production of the new English melodrama, "The Span of Life," by Sutton Vane, at the Barton opera next Monday evening.

During a scene which is laid in a most rugged and mountainous region of Africa it becomes necessary to cross a chasm with a roaring cataract beneath to escape being killed by a savage tribe of Arabs. Rather than be taken by these brutes the male members of the par ssed party, seeing all other means of escape cut off, in sheer desperation, linked together execute a thrilling drop across the ghastly opening, almost superhuman power forming a veritable bridge of bodies, which serves as a crossing for the others.

This act, although successfully accomplished, is an extremely hazardous undertaking, and has never been attempted by any other athletes excepting the famous Wilson family of London, who appear in this production.

Fifth Day of the Pacific Conference.

A DISCUSSION ON EDUCATION

Bishop Fitzgerald Tendered a Home in California — Claims Allowed.

Bishop O. P. Fitzgerald called the South Methodist conference to order at the usual hour yesterday morning. Religious services were conducted by Rev. J. M. Weems. The minutes of the Saturday afternoon session were read and approved.

By W. P. Andrews a resolution was presented to the conference and carried, touching the property relating to the Superannuated Preachers' Home in Lancaster, and H. M. McNigh was appointed to collect all claims connected therewith.

H. C. Christian offered a resolution, which was carried, asking that the preachers during the next thirty days collect, publicly and privately, the delegate general conference fund assessed on those charges where the same was not collected last year.

THE STATE OF THE WORK.

R. F. Allen, chairman, made the report on the state of the work, which was followed by several speeches having reference thereto.

From the report was revealed the fact that there had been a net gain of 515 members in the Pacific Conference during the past year, but that the work of parsonage and church building had been greatly retarded by the financial stringency.

Recognizing the importance of these departments, the work of the Epworth League and the Sunday school were highly recommended as valuable auxiliaries in the way of giving numerical strength to the church.

On this subject the report is very gratifying as to temporal condition, and spiritual condition, also. The report was adopted, after which the conference arose and sang "Thy saints in all this glorious war shall conquer, though they die. They see the triumph from afar; by faith they bring it nigh."

EDUCATIONAL MATTERS.

The report of the Committee on Education was presented by Jesse Wood, chairman. The committee emphasized the inculcation of moral principles in connection with the literary education of children in the M. E. Church schools, which moral feature in state institutions is in a great measure ignored.

In this particular the Vanderbilt university at Nashville was recommended by the bishop as a model for the education of the sons and daughters of South Methodists. He included the Pacific Methodist college in this class, and said:

"The president, Colonel J. S. Austin, gave a very encouraging report, and I desire to encourage him by word and deed. Let us pledge a lifelong devotion to this institution."

On the subject of education Dr. T. H. B. Anderson made an impressive speech.

"I believe," said he, "the time has come when we must educate our own children in our own way, under the auspices of our church. I feel sure that the educational forces of this state are such that if we do not stand by our children and educate them, other colleges will educate them to other lines of thinking and, alas! destroy our church. I am as sure of that as I can be of anything that comes before me this morning. I am sure that as a church we must sustain our institution at Santa Rosa, or we shall suffer at that particular point where we can't afford to suffer.

"I have been to the Stanford University, which is under the direction of Chancellor Dr. Jordan. I passed through the school and became acquainted, and found Southern Methodist boys there from almost every state in the south. Florida is the only exception to the rule. I met students who had passed through Randolph, Macon, Central college and others. I found them from Texas, Alabama, Georgia, Missouri. After I preached they came and shook hands with me, and were glad to see me.

"I assure you this much: I believe it to be the solemn duty of every Methodist family in California to put their children in the Santa Rosa college. I found Methodists and Baptists and Presbyterians, not Roman Catholics, in the faculty of the Stanford University, two of them being members of our church, and they are fine men, and do good work. Dr. Jordan claims to be a member of the Congregational church.

"Yes, the Pacific Methodist College is eminently qualified to take our sons and daughters and train them. We have all the piety and enough of science and literature, and everything necessary to qualify men and women to discharge the duties of life. I believe it is your duty and mine to stand around that institution and give it not only your money, but your boys and girls."

THE SANTA ROSA COLLEGE.

Dr. Anderson was followed by Sharbrough, McNight, Steele, Bane, Simmons, Brown, Renfro, Pendergast, Smith and Austin, ably advocating the cause of Christian education, speaking with special reference to the college at Santa Rosa.

C. O. Steele called attention to the fact that the idea had gone abroad that the status of that institution had undergone a change, and that it was now a private institution — perhaps only a school of high grade. The status is the same as heretofore, he said.

A. C. Bane, in allusion to the limited privileges of the institution, said: "I have heard it stated throughout the conference the past year that the children of preachers are no longer received at this college on the old terms," to which President Austin replied:

"We not only offer to educate our preachers' sons and daughters, but to educate them free of charge."

Dr. J. K. Simmons raised another question. He had heard it said that when one of their preachers dies his children are no longer beneficiaries of the college. The president corrected that impression: "We have the sons of Brother Ward there and we invite all our preachers to send their children to us."

In connection with this subject the bishop said that a commissioner was appointed by the general conference to solicit funds in the interest of the education of colored preachers in the south, and it was expected that an assessment would be levied upon the conferences for this purpose. He hoped the committee would levy an assessment upon this conference.

In response to the inquiry raised, Colonel Austin stated that he had provided a commercial course for the accommodation of such pupils as might desire such a course.

WOMAN'S HELP WANTED.

In reference to the college at Santa Rosa the bishop said: "If these stingy rich men of California will not, I hope some of these good women will give you for your college $100,000. I had a dream twice, and twice it came to pass. I hope you will pray that I may dream, and some good woman will come to our rescue."

After much more extended discussion of the subject of Christian education by him, with special reference to the Vanderbilt university and Pacific Methodist college, the report of the committee on education was adopted.

The college visiting committee for the coming year is as follows: C. O. Steele, M. B. Sharborough and J. R. Briggs.

CHURCH EXTENSION.

This subject elicited very considerable discussion, being a department of no minor importance in church work. In the judgment of the committee we should entrench ourselves as a church in the cities and great centers, and invest all the talent and money we can command in this direction. "One church of 500 members in San Francisco would give us more character than ten churches located in remote places."

In connection with this department of church work was introduced the department of the "Parsonage and Home Missionary Society," which during the past few years has received much attention by the ladies of the church, and has been grandly instrumental in ministering to the comforts and necessities of our preachers and their families. Rev. H. M. McNight, than whom there is not a more earnest advocate in the Pacific conference of this part of woman's work in the church, said:

"I am assured that if we fully appreciated the value of the 'Parsonage and Home Missionary Society' we should organize one in every pastoral charge. The general conference has recognized the indispensable services of our sisters by giving them a plan and a work under the constitution of the church. I commend, by precept and example, the wisdom of bringing all our ladies' aid societies into unity and harmony, by adopting the name and plan of the Woman's Parsonage and Home Missionary Society. Very few can object to the connectional bond represented by one-half of the dues being sent to the general board.

"Any aid society becoming a 'Parsonage and Home Missionary Society' increases its funds for local work, by the increase of members, induced by the use of a uniform program.

"I know if one charge can raise $800 in one year, through a society of four members, that every charge can avail itself of the benefit of such an organization. Let all write for the constitution to Mrs. W. E. Burdick, secretary, Lincoln, Cal."

Rev. Davidson, of the Swedish Methodist church in Fresno, was introduced to the conference.

The conference adjourned to meet at 9 a.m. today.

MEMORIAL SERVICE.

At the M. E. Church South last evening, following a sermon preached by J. J. M. Kenney, was held the annual memorial service. The three preachers of the conference who died during the year were J. M. Ward, D. T. Belvel and L. A. Dillard. To pay the last tribute of respect to the deceased was the object of the service. Besides the above mentioned ministers of the conference, Mrs. J. C. Pendergast and Mrs. Henry Neate had also been called to their home on high.

Of the trials and virtues of each of the departed, quite a number spoke, after which, in conclusion, Bishop Fitzgerald recited the long list of the sainted dead connected with the conference and church since its first organization in California. Having long been connected with the Pacific conference before his election to the Episcopacy, his words were deeply impressed on the audience, especially those members of it who had in other days associated with the departed.

Said the bishop: "I'll go up, it may be, the first. I feel as if I should like to stay—if for nothing else, for one thing; there are so many I would like to take with me, who are not on the way. Glory to God! We will go up where we will meet our loved ones. They have crossed the river. Rest is not far off. God bless you, brethren. God baptize the conference with his grace."

Mr. Cairns in Manchester.

The London Christian of November 17th, 1892, in speaking of Mr. Cairns, says:

"Mr. G. R. Cairns has concluded an eight days' mission at the Wilmott street hall, Hulme, Manchester. This hall, with its galleries, will accommodate 750 persons, and attached to it are numerous class rooms. The mission has been in existence for about twenty-two years. It is purely evangelistic, but attached to it is a large Sunday school in connection with Union chapel, and principally worked by members of the congregation of Dr. Alexander Maclaren. Mr. Cairns has been at Wilmott street on two previous occasions. He came for the first time just three years ago, and paid a second visit after one year. There were very good results on both these occasions, and many of the best workers at present laboring at Wilmott street were brought in at one or the other of his visits.

"At this time a great blessing was asked for and expected, nor were the expectations disappointed. Over 200 have professed to decide for Christ, and their names and addresses have been carefully noted, that they may be visited and watched over. The testimony of all at Wilmott street is that the results of all of Mr. Cairns' meetings have been most satisfactory. He leaves behind him many thankful hearts, who bless God for the simple and forcible Gospel teaching they have received at these meetings."

THE CITY TRUSTEES

Special Meeting Next Week on License and Salaries.

RIFT IN THE FIRE DEPARTMENT

A Remonstrance Against Changes Recommended by the Board of Delegates.

When Chairman Church called the board of city trustees to order last night all members answered roll call save Trustee Adams.

The application of J. R. McDavitt for the position of park gardener at a salary of $40 per month was received and filed.

On motion of Trustee Herrington the park gardener was discharged and the park turned over to the superintendent of streets.

Fulton G. Berry applied for a special permit to remove swill in the daytime. The board refused to grant it.

The following communication from the board of delegates of the fire department was presented and read:

"FRESNO, October 16, 1893.

"Board of Trustees city of Fresno.

"Gentlemen:—It is the opinion of the board of delegates of the Fresno volunteer fire department of this city, that the services of the Chemical engine can be greatly improved by a complete change in the working force of the engine, and in view of that opinion the board recommends that the position of driver and pipeman of the Chemical engine be declared vacant, and we further recommend the following names for the positions.: William F. Leavitt, pipeman, George Stevens, driver for Chemical engine. Yours truly,

"CHARLES INSS,
"Chairman of Board of Delegates."
"C. E. WOOD, Secretary."

Two remonstrances signed by active members of the fire department, one bearing thirty-eight names and the other forty, were presented in opposition to the action of the board of delegates, and declaring that the communication from the board of delegates did not voice the sentiment of the department in this matter.

Mr. Cory, in presenting the remonstrances, stated that the remonstrances had been signed within the past two days, and that many of the 125 members of the department had not been seen.

He especially called attention to the fact that no charges had been preferred against the present incumbents, C. H. Toy, driver, and Fermer Banta, pipeman, and no sufficient reasons given for the proposed action.

On motion of Trustee Herrington the matter was referred to the fire and water committee to investigate and report thereon at the next meeting.

The street superintendent reported the acceptance of the lateral sewer constructed through blocks 337 and 343, and the city attorney was directed to draw up a proper resolution of acceptance and present the same at the next meeting of the board.

Chief Higgins and expert, J. T. Shanklin reported on the condition of buildings inside of the fire limits. They condemned two sheds, which the owners agreed to remove. The report was received and placed on file.

On motion of Trustee Spinney the matter of housing the sprinklers was referred to the committee on public buildings.

The city attorney reported on the recommendation contained in the report of our city health officer in regard to extending the sewer system in certain portions of the city as impracticable under the present financial stringency, and therefore the matter would have to be delayed.

The report of R. R. Murray, employed to export the books of the city was passed over in order to give the committee further time thereon.

On motion of Trustee Craycroft the matter of city salaries was referred to the finance committee to be considered at a special meeting of the same, to be held next Monday evening.

On motion of Trustee Herrington the new license ordinance under consideration took the same course, and at that meeting all persons interested will be given a hearing.

The petition of E. M. Burris for a license to run a saloon at No. 1154 J street was granted.

On motion of Trustee Spinney all the extra electric lights were dispensed with.

On motion, all bills except those against the street and sewer funds were laid over until the next meeting.

MIDWINTER FAIR.

Letter from the Superintendent of Viticulture.

The following letter of interest to the winegrowers of this county has been received by the REPUBLICAN from F. A. Haber, superintendent of the viticultural department of the Midwinter fair:

SAN FRANCISCO, October 14.

"EDITOR REPUBLICAN:—I have the honor to inform you that I have been appointed superintendent of the department of viticulture of the California Midwinter International Exposition, and courteously bespeak your valuable aid in enlisting the attention and co-operation of your contributors and the citizens of your city and county, engaged in viticulture, to assist me in making our viticultural and viticultural exhibit the feature of the Midwinter fair.

"Taking advantage of the experience of California's exhibit at the World's fair, I suggest that our viticultural exhibit be artistically emphasized in one grand collective group, giving every county in the state a representation, beautifully illustrated by panoramic effects, typical of the scenery and characteristic of each location. Ample space will be allotted in the agricultural and horticultural building, and under the conditions herewith suggested the cost for space and decoration come within the limits of the most modest purse.

"Having received the endorsement of many of the great producers and wine merchants of the state I have severed my connection with the Inglenook vineyard and will devote my time and energies, with your assistance, toward making this viticultural exhibit a notable one. Suggestions are cordially invited from anyone interested in this work. At the proper time due notice will be given for a general meeting of the viticulturalists of the state in this city to carry out the above.

"Hoping, dear sir, that you will give this letter a place in your valuable columns and courteously requesting you to dwell upon this opportunity offered to the viticulturalists of the state to advertise this great resource to the world, I await your acknowledgment and remain respectfully,

"F. A. HABER,
"Superintendent of Viticulture."

FARMERS' ALLIANCE.

THEIR WELCOME MEETING LAST NIGHT.

The State Convention to Begin This Morning—Many Delegates in Town.

A large number of delegates to the state convention of the Farmers' Alliance arrived yesterday and many came in on the night trains, giving the various committees plenty of work in receiving them and assigning them to quarters. The headquarters of the alliance have been established at the Pleasanton hotel.

Last evening at the Adventist church there was held a welcome meeting, which was numerously attended. It was called to order by State President J. L. Gilbert, who made a few remarks appropriate to the occasion.

M. W. Wilkins of this city made the address of welcome, and a bright and cordial one it was. He spoke briefly of Fresno county's great resources and referred in laudatory terms to the hospitality of its people. The speaker closed by giving an account of the progress of the reform movement here.

Ten-minute responses were made by J. V. Webster of Creston, E. M. Wardall of Monrovia, Mrs. W. F. Shelton of Fresno, J. S. Barber, the state secretary, and G. B. Johnson of San Jose. There was of course more or less said of the reform movement in the various localities represented by the speakers.

Miss Cora Maxwell gave a recitation with good effect. J. S. Johnson of San Francisco, who was to speak, called upon Mr. McGlynn of that city. McGlynn has come as a representative of the Federated Trades. He extended the right hand of fellowship to the alliance, in the name of the Federated Trades and signified the sympathy of that organization with the objects of the alliance.

Enjoyable features of the evening were the singing of James G. Clark and the songs and recitations of the Cotton children. They will remain here through the convention, appearing at the evening sessions.

Hon. Thomas V. Cator of San Francisco was called upon and spoke of the moral side of the Alliance work. C. A. Barlow made an interesting speech on the California legislature, telling what, in his opinion, it ought to be and the kind of men of which it should consist.

The convention will meet this morning at the Adventist church at 10 o'clock in executive session. Committees will be appointed and other routine business transacted. At 11 o'clock the doors will be thrown open to the public. There will be another session in the afternoon.

This evening an entertaining program will be given at the Adventist church. Burdette Cornell, the state lecturer, will speak on "Speculative Commerce." There will also be music and recitations by the Cotton children and James G. Clark.

WITH FINGER TIPS.

HOW HELEN KELLER WAS TAUGHT THE NAMES OF THINGS.

Something of the Method Explained by Her Tireless Instructress—A Face That Mirrors a Soul Which Knows Naught of the Appearance of Sin.

The most interesting feature of the educational congress was the appearance of Helen Keller under the kind and skillful guidance of Miss Annie M. Sullivan, her teacher. When a babe, Helen Keller became blind, deaf and dumb. When Miss Sullivan, a young woman of unusual beauty of form and feature, stood before the audience beside a girl who, except for the sad sign of blindness in the large eyes, gave promise of still greater beauty, her face glistening with a rapture that painters try to express in the ecstacy of angels, hearts seemed to stand still. It was a face that had never consciously looked on the distortions of passion or pain—the mirror of a soul that could not imagine the outward appearance of sin nor remember any of the discords of life.

In her presence it was hard to appreciate the fact that her world lay within ours, without sun, music or speech. No one who saw it will forget the impulsive fluttering of her young, white hand as it sought her teacher's face or round, white throat; the satisfaction when the contact of her delicate white finger tips gave her what sight gives us; the flash of light over her face when, with her forefinger resting on her teacher's lip, she read the answer to the question she had asked by the twinkling digital movements in her teacher's palm. There were those who wept when she repeated audibly, with a depth of feeling she alone can feel:

Tell me not in mournful numbers
Life is but an empty dream.

All were invited to ask questions, yet not many did so. The occasion seemed sacred.

"How did you teach her the first word?" some one ventured at last.

"Her first word was 'doll,'" was the answer. "I gave her the doll, placed her finger on my lip and spoke the word. When she wearied of the doll, I took it from her, and when I returned it again gave the movement of the lips. The second word was 'mug.' I used the cup from which she drank, but became convinced that she had not a clear idea of the name, but that it meant to her also water or drink. So I one day took her to the pump, and as the water was flowing into her cup had her hold her hand in the stream, and then putting her finger on my lip gave her the word 'water.' Then I again gave her the word 'mug.' The idea that everything had a name, the comprehension of nouns, was a great revelation to her and came then and all at once. She was greatly excited. A nurse, with the baby sister in her arms, was standing near. Helen immediately put her hand on its face to know its name. I told her 'baby,' and she caught it at once. Then she stooped down and patted the ground to know what it was called. She learned many words that day, and those words she never forgot."

"How soon after she learned words did she frame sentences?"

"Immediately."

"Were verbs harder to learn than nouns?"

"Not at all. I began with such words as 'sit,' 'stand' and the like that were easy to illustrate. Prepositions troubled her most."

"How does she get an idea of the abstract?"

"I cannot tell. It seems to be with her, or it comes."

"Has she any distinguishing sense of musical vibrations?"

"Yes, very distinct. She likes music."

"Is her vocabulary large?"

"Very large. She expresses herself fluently and is choice of words."

"What books does she like best?"

Every now and then the white fingers fluttered to the teacher's face for just one delicate touch—a finger look it was—and now they rested on Miss Sullivan's lip:

"Tell—the—people—what—books—you—like—best."

Helen's face was an open book of her mental processes. She repeated each word after Miss Sullivan, but hesitated a little on the words "tell" and "you," the brightness of her face dimming for the instant. As soon as she comprehended the question, which she did in advance of its completion, the flash of intelligence came, and when she turned toward the audience, for she did not seem at any time to lose her location, she said with spirit:

"Oh, I have read so much that it is very hard to say what I like best, but"—waiting a moment—"'Little Lord Fauntleroy'"— And then followed rapidly the names of several works, some of which, it would seem, could hardly be understood by any one who cannot know sound and color.

"How do you read?"

"By raised letters and by my teacher."

"I noticed when you pronounced for her you articulated with an exaggerated motion of the lips," said one. "Is not that necessary?"

"Her teaching was begun in that way. I do not think it is necessary or best. I attribute the peculiarity of her voice to that mechanical action which she uses. I think it would have been better and just as easy if she had been spoken to with the usual movement."

In reply to the question of her knowledge of the abstract, General Faton remarked that the greatest development in the case of Helen Keller was that of the spiritual.—Memphis Appeal-Avalanche.

Palettes of Painters.

Palettes of famous painters form an interesting collection in the possession of M. Bonginet of Paris. His collection numbers over 100 specimens, chief among which are the palettes used by Corot, Troyon, Delacroix, Benjamin Constans, Bonnat, Rosa Bonheur, Detaille, Pavis de Chavannes and other artists of celebrity.—Philadelphia Ledger.

[illegible] For Speed.

A tidy little sum has been paid out by the government in premiums to the builders of naval vessels during the present year. By exceeding the speed required the Bancroft netted her contractors $45,000; the Detroit, $150,000; the New York, $200,000, and the Machias, $45,000, a total of $440,000. This amount is likely to be increased. The money may be regarded as well invested if it does no more than call attention to the high standard of excellence attainable by American shipbuilders.—Boston Transcript.

Dakota's Great Wheatfields.

A large party of foreign agricultural commissioners to the World's fair, under the escort of Governor Shortridge of North Dakota, saw some harvesting operations in that great wheat country a few days ago which must have opened their eyes, accustomed as they are to the small acreages of Europe. Driving through a vast wheatfield bounded only by the horizon, they beheld as many as 33 twine binders moving in a steady procession half a mile long and cutting great swaths of grain.

They were told by the owner of this farm that in harvesting time he cut a square mile of grain in a day and employed 80 men to shock it up. At noon the visitors sat down to a prairie chicken dinner on a mammoth scale, which excited their surprise almost as much as the prairie acres on which they gazed.

Afterward they visited the famous Dalrymple farm, covering 54,000 acres of ground, and saw numerous thrashing machines making their inroads into the stacks of wheat which it required 180 twine binders from two to three weeks to cut.—New York Post.

SUBSCRIBERS TO THE REPUBLICAN

(Daily or Weekly) May Secure a Copy of Either

"The Ladies' Own Cook Book" or "Our Family Physician"

By sending to this office the name of a new subscriber to either daily or weekly with pay for first month for daily (sixty cents) or three months (seventy-five cents) for weekly.

These books are, either of them, worth many times the price of the paper, but are given away so as to increase the already large circulation of THE FRESNO MORNING REPUBLICAN and FRESNO WEEKLY REPUBLICAN.

The books are well and substantially bound, clearly printed, and are highly useful in the household.

OUR FAMILY PHYSICIAN

Is a standard work, over 100,000 copies having been printed and sold. It was compiled and edited by H. R. Stout, M. D., a physician of more than national reputation. It is a plain, practical and reliable guide to the detection and treatment of all the diseases common to the country. Designed for use by people who have not made the practice of medicine a study or a business and who are not supposed to be familiar with technical phrases and names, but want information stated in plain English. Gives separately with every disease the treatment prescribed by each of the "schools" and full and explicit directions for nursing the sick, preparation of food for the sick, etc.

To know when to go after a doctor is an important thing. Nine times out of ten calling one is a useless expense, while failing to call one at the proper time may cost a life. This book contains 540 pages, bound in cloth, making an ornamental, as well as useful, addition to any library.

THE LADIES' OWN COOK BOOK

Is a practical and economical guide to cooking, canning, curing and preserving. Including also a chapter on confectionery, showing how to make all kinds of candies, ice cream, etc., by MRS. JANE WARREN.

This book is a standard authority on cooking. It is very tastefully printed and bound in oilcloth.

A copy of either of these valuable books will be presented to any subscribe of THE REPUBLICAN, according to the terms set forth above.
